Plant Markers & Labels

We will print plant labels for our customers at no charge since the cost to get started with labeling is so high. You would only have to buy plant markers.

These are the plant markers & labels we currently use. They are available on Amazon in white, black & silver. This is a black plant marker with a silver label. If you find better/other ones, please let us know.

The labels we use for the plant markers are a polyester material and printed with a thermal transfer printer. They hold up very well to the elements.

The labels are printed using thermal transfer printer (not direct thermal) with custom labeling software. We will be glad to provide more information on any of the products we use, just email or contact us.

Some people have reported to us that they use a Brother P-touch label maker. We do not know much about these, you may want to look into these.
